Department of Civil Engineering and Engineering Mechanics: Alumni and Industry Council

The AIC was established in 1997 and has had a positive impact on the CEEM Department's standing within the University and the industry by enhancing its ability to produce industry-ready students and ensuring its fiscal sustainability now and in the future.

AIC Objectives

The AIC focuses on the best interests of the CEEM Department and its students. Some of the objectives set for AIC include:

- a) Provide support and guidance to CEEM faculty and students;
- b) Establish goals, priorities and programs that will promote the interests of the civil engineering profession and CEEM;
- c) Help integrate the civil engineering profession with the interests of the design and construction industries;
- d) Assist with fundraising efforts;
- e) Establish programs and incentives to encourage student enrollment and development, and to increase the number of civil engineering graduates.

Biannual Meetings

The council meets twice a year. Some of the topics discussed are:

- The state of the College or Department and help with fundraising;
- Department events;
- The Academic Program Review where all the courses, content and instructors are looked at and the Department earns its accreditation, keeps the Department abreast of the needs of industry and how the Department can prepare our students and how we can partner with the companies to make the Department a valuable resource to industry;
- How to keep in contact with alumni and keep them engaged.
